

Taylor Garcia, FOCUS

Taylor Garcia recently graduated from the University of Texas in Austin with a degree in Speech Pathology. She attended her elementary years of school at St. Matthew's Catholic School. For high school, she earned her diploma at Winston Churchill High School.

While at UT, she got involved with FOCUS, a ministry to college students. She was impressed by their work and, upon graduation, made a two-year commitment to become a missionary in college and did a training in Ave Maria, FL. She started her ministry at Texas State University in San Marcos. Missionaries are required to fund raise their costs by meeting with individuals and speaking to church groups for monthly donations. During the course of their ministry, they lead students through bible studies, walk with them in discipleship, and arrange mission trips for students at the schools where they serve. She works with five other FOCUS missionaries.
